25th, Lochnitaa:

The Duke of Belluno will reach Kostritsa about noon, and will he ready to crosn the river to-night.

General Eble has arrived with a number of engineers.

£7th, Studienka:

I have ju«t crossed the Berezina; but the river is full of floating ice and our bridges are therefore very insecure. The army that had been facing Schwarzenberg tried to prevent our passage, and JB to-night concentrated on the right bank opposite Boriaof. The cold is very severe; the army In excessively fatigued.

*»th, Zanivki:

(To Maret.) I have received your letter of the 25th in which there in not a word of French news, nor of Spanish, This makett two weeks during which I have heard nothing and am in the dark about everything.

Yesterday we were sharply engaged with Admiral Tchichagof and Wittgenstein. We defeated the first-named, who attacked ua on the right bank on the Borisof road. The latter, who attempted to carry our bridges over the Ben&ina, wan contained, The Duke of Beggio was wounded, and many other generals.

The army w numerous but in a frightful state of dis-bamiment. We need two week? to reform the men into regiment and where can we get two weeks ? Cold and privation haw broken up the army. We ihall soon reach Vilna; ran wa ittay there F Yen, if we can hold on for eight day*; but if we aw attacked during the first eight days, It b doubtful whether we can stay there. Food! food! Otlierwiie there are no horrors which this un-mob is not capable of wreaking on the city.
